Memorial Tablet on Bridge at Broadway and 230th Street

In the first war for liberty, the American Revo lution, Kingsbridge was No Man's Land. The fighting was for the possession of the bridge and its approaches, which to-day are at Broadway, 250th and 231st Streets and Kingsbridge Avenue.

There is still to be seen here the Site of the Old Bridge; the Wading Place; the Old Tavern; the Bloody Well; Fort St. Charles; Paperinenman Rock; Site of Fort Independence; Site of the Implacement of the British Guns and other interest-

Those interested in historical matters are ad-Those interested in historical matters are advised to see them during the next two weeks, as they will soon disappear, owing to the decree of the Supreme Court ordering the sale of the Estate of Joseph Godwin, which consists of two hundred and thirty-one lots at Broadway, 230th, 231st Streets and Kingsbridge Avenue. The sale will take place at the Real Estate Exchange, No. 14 Vesey Street, Tuesday, November 27th, 1917. The lots will be old for whatever they will bring without reserve. old for whatever they will bring without reservation or protection of any kind.

Owing to the severe depression in real estate tis almost certain they will bring but a very small percentage of their actual value. Maps and particulars may be obtained from J. Clarence Davies, 149th Street and 3d Avenue, and Joseph P. Day, 31 Nassau Street, the agents and auctioneers.

In addition Mr. Dooling said he found Mrs. Stiassny had been giving Epstein her note for $2,000 for the last five years. Under the first will the bulk of the estate went to the three children of her ccusin, Mrs. Jessye E. Lubetkin, of 720 Riverside Drive. The last will cut Mrs. Lubetkin and the children off with a single bequest of a diamond ring. Mrs. Lubetkin's letter to District Attorney Swann started the investigation into Mrs. Stiassny's death.

Dr. B. M. Feldman, of 515 Cathedral Parkway, who was the first to view Mrs. Stiassny's body, was questioned again yesterday by Mr. Dooling. The latter said the physician's story presented many contradictions in the stories of Dora Watts, the maid, and Epstein.

The prosecutor declined to discuss evidence which he says he has found midicating that some person visited Mrs. Stiassny's bedroom between 7:30 Liberty Loan Commission, are alleged to aggregate $55,000.
